regulations LCB File No. R073-17

Mickey opened the public workshop of NSBAIDRD for discussion to the public in regards to regulations LCB File No. R073-17. Rodis reviewed the agenda and the regulations and stated that the changes would not affect her. She said that she had no objections and expressed that she supported the idea. She also said that she tuned in for educational interest.

Ciesynski commented that candidates, who are not sure if they qualify and have a non-CIDA accredited degree, may take interest in taking the Alternative Review Process (ARP) that the Council for Interior Design Qualifications (CIDQ) offers. She asked Rodis if she was aware of the ARP. Rodis responded yes and stated that she knows others who may qualify but aren't aware of the process. Ciesynski shared that the ARP process has been streamlined by CIDQ and hopes to get the word out.

Mickey asked Rodis for suggestions or insights on how to reach out to possible candidates and educate them with new information. Mickey said that the Board currently sends information out to individuals and firms who are currently in the database. Rodis mentioned that she is part of the Interior Design Society (IDS) mailing list and suggested that the Board to reach out to them. She stated that the IDS is a strong organization and believes that there are many people in the organization who are not registered.
