Re: Medical Marijuana Growth Facilities and Dispensaries

The board has recently received numerous inquiries from Nevada architects asking whether they are permitted to design medical marijuana growth facilities and dispensaries. The board discussed the topic at its June 11, 2014 meeting.

After thorough discussion and review of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) Rules of Conduct, the board determined that an architect or interior designer who is properly registered in the state of Nevada may undertake the architectural and design work related to medical marijuana growth facilities and dispensaries in the state of Nevada.

This memorandum is intended only to answer questions regarding the board's oversight and regulation of registered architects and interior designers and is not intended to address other potential legal issues related to the performing of architectural or interior design work related to medical marijuana growth facilities and dispensaries. Because there are other legal issues related to this topic, all registrants are advised to consult with their legal counsel before pursuing or commencing work related to a medical marijuana growth facility or dispensary.
